Bathouism: Sacred Religion & Spiritual Philosophy

The Five Cosmic Elements, the Sijou Shrine, Moral Principles & Historical Reform

1. Fundamental Cosmic Worldview: The 5 Elements

Bathou philosophy is rooted in the veneration of the Five Natural Elements (Ha, Dwi, Or, Bar, Okhrang), manifested through the formless Supreme Deity Bathou Bwrai.

Element	Cosmic Domain	Spiritual Significance
Ha (हा)	Earth / Solid Matter	Foundation of physical existence, agriculture and mortal body.
Dwi (दै)	Water / Fluidity	Purifier of ritual, life-giving river, source of renewal.
Or (अर')	Fire / Energy	Cosmic spark, transformation, sacrificial agent in rituals.
Bar (बार)	Air / Wind	Breath of life (prana), motion, carrier of prayers.
Okhrang (अख्रां)	Ether / Space	Infinite cosmic space embracing all creation.

2. Sacred Botanical & Ritual Symbols

• Sijou (सजिौ): Living divine emblem of Bathou Bwrai planted in the Sithla (courtyard). Never pruned; its five ridges represent the five cosmic elements.

• Khonthir (खन्थरि): Woven fence encircling the Sijou plant. The 18 pairs symbolize the 18 moral virtues and cosmic duties governing righteous human society.

• Tulsi & Jarouba: Sanctifying agents used during worship to sprinkle pure stream water on congregants.

3. Socio-Spiritual Reformation: Brahma Dharma

Brahma Dharma Movement (Led by Gurudev Kalicharan Brahma (1860–1938)):

A major socio-spiritual reformation initiated in the early 20th century. Introduced Vedic homa/yajna fire rituals while purifying superstitious practices, eradicating child marriage, and creating schools across Bodoland.
